All rights are reserved and protected under applicable international intellectual property laws and treaties.

Authorized Use of Copyrighted Materials

You may use SmartCP content only within the scope permitted by:

- a written license agreement,
- a subscription contract,
- Terms & Conditions, or
- explicit written permission from SmartCP.

Unless permission is expressly granted, you may NOT:

- copy, reproduce, or duplicate any materials,
- republish or redistribute content (including screenshots),
- modify, translate, or create derivative works,
- publicly display, transmit, or broadcast materials,
- reverse-engineer or decompile software components,
- use content for competitive analysis or competing products.

Any unauthorized use constitutes copyright infringement and may result in civil and criminal liability.

License and Distribution

SmartAction.io Sp. z o.o. is the sole legal distributor and license holder of the SmartCP software products.

No third party is authorized to sell, sublicense, or distribute SmartCP unless explicitly approved through a written agreement.

Licenses are non-transferable unless otherwise stated and remain valid only if granted directly by SmartCP.

Reporting Copyright Violations

We take violations of our intellectual property rights seriously.

If you believe that any SmartCP materials are being used without authorization, please send a detailed notice to: info@smartcp.org

Include:

- Your name and contact details
- A description of the copyrighted work
- The exact location of the infringing content
- Evidence or documentation, if applicable

We will investigate all reports and take appropriate legal action.

Reservation of Rights

We reserve all rights not expressly granted in this Copyright Policy or in written agreements.

We may update this Policy periodically. Continued use of SmartCP constitutes acceptance of any revised terms.
